

EDUACTIVE

EDU TRAINER

Do you enjoy the challenge and art of sharing your knowledge and skills with high school students? Are you thrilled by the idea of your talent and knowledge having a direct impact in the world?

We are looking for energetic and global thinkers and doers with an excellent understanding of the power of non-formal education to join our EDUactional team.

The position will start as a 6 months internship and potentially leads to a full-time freelancer position.

The ideal candidate is motivated to work in a fast-paced start-up, understands high schoolers and wants to spend few times a week with them, sharing experiences and knowledge with the team and the high schoolers.

Strong desire to grow, learn and work autonomously is an asset.

We want your creativity and passion to be your driving force while approaching students. Bring your creativity, passion, curiosity and talent to our students and to the team and we will be happy to reward it and provide a place for growth.

If you see yourself in the description and think you are up for the challenge, let's talk!

You would be involved in

- project creation;
- selection of working areas;
- organization and execution of projects with students;
- elaboration of follow-up papers;
- and will enjoy your time while working, as you are the one who decides the working topic you want to share with students, in line with our guidelines.

The ideal candidate

- has completed a bachelor's degree (or is enrolled in its last year);
- has a strong International background and is fluent in both English and Italian (with good writing skills);
- is willing to learn about non-formal education and tools for working with it;
- enjoys working with young people aged 15-19;
- is able to adapt knowledge learnt in University to a High School level, and to involve teenagers;
- shall have excellent time management skills and flexibility;
- is fun and easy to work with;
- is never late to meetings, is a reliable hard worker (working in a fast-growing startup is not for everyone).

Why to work at EDUACTIVE? We are a cooperative company, with International and local founders, who are under 30. Our mentors - strongly experienced in the sector, are willing to guide all team members, even through their academic paths. The position is very flexible, and when you are not working in a classroom, you can be based anywhere, as long as you can connect to the Internet. Competitive reimbursement and benefits, including annual long-haul trips, and much more.
